

ST. IGNATIUS LOYOLA ACADEMY

EDUCATING BOYS • TRANSFORMING LIVES

Volunteer Intern Teacher

July 1, 2021 Employment Start

Would you like to be a part of a team that makes a difference in a young man's life?

School and Results

Saint Ignatius Loyola Academy, founded in 1993, is a tuition-free Jesuit Catholic middle school serving over 100 boys in grades 5-8 with a vision of breaking the cycle of poverty through education. Eighty-eight percent of enrolled student's families qualify for the Federal free or reduced lunch program. Students live throughout Baltimore City and only 7% of students are Roman Catholic while 45% have no church affiliation. The success of the Academy's unique program featuring an extended day eleven-month school year combined with a rigorous curriculum, small class sizes and mentoring support after graduating leads to achievement in high school and college and lives as productive men for others. Since its founding, 98% of Academy graduates have received a high school diploma and 88% have matriculated in college.

Founded in 1993 and located in Baltimore's Federal Hill neighborhood, St. Ignatius Loyola Academy is an extended day and eleven-month school year program for 112 students representing 23 zip codes across Baltimore. We offer a supportive learning community for both students and faculty, small class sizes (13-15 students), and work-life balance. Academy graduates attend exemplary public and private high schools, both day and boarding, in Baltimore and throughout the Mid-Atlantic and New England regions. Our Graduate Support Program provides counseling and advising support to over 200 graduates who are currently attending high school and college. The Academy is an independent Catholic Jesuit school accredited by the Association of Independent Maryland and DC Schools (AIMS) and sponsored by the USA East Jesuit Province. Grounded in that educational tradition, the Academy's faculty and staff educate deserving young men to be intellectually competent, open to growth, loving, religious, and committed to doing justice. The Internship Experience

You will work and live as part of a team of young and energetic full-time teachers who reside near the Academy and who enjoy their work. Receive excellent mentoring and support in a job that makes a difference!

As an intern teacher, your two-year service begins with you gaining valuable first-year teaching experience serving as a summer school teacher in our four-week July education program. During the regular school year (late August-May), you will teach a variety of classes, as well as serve as an advisor and coach. The academic year concludes with your service as a camp counselor in the Academy's two-week overnight camp at the Claggett Center (June). Your second year follows a similar schedule with increased teaching responsibilities.

- Class sizes of 12-15 students
- Coaching athletics and extracurricular clubs

- Supportive working environment with mentoring by master teachers

Benefits

In addition, our intern program includes the following benefits:

- Living Stipend
- Health insurance – fully paid, including deductibles.
- Housing provided in newly renovated row house in Baltimore’s historic Federal Hill neighborhood just a few blocks from the school.
- Nearby health club membership
- Deferment of student loans, plus AmeriCorps Education Award of $5,550 (eligible after a year of service at the Academy)
- Earn a graduate degree in education from Loyola University Maryland while you work at the Academy (conditional on being accepted and the University's continuing partnership)

This Volunteer Intern Teacher position is an eleven-month employment position with occasional evening responsibilities. The successful candidate will begin her/his duties in July 2021.

Interested candidates should email a cover letter explaining why her/his education and professional experiences have prepared them to be a part of the Academy faculty team along with a resume to: careers@saintignatius.org. Candidates must also complete the Volunteer Intern Teacher Application and Employment Application on the Academy’s website.
